Thomas C. Perkins.

The United States Worsted company advertised in this paper by Thomas C. Perkins, the well known investment banker of Hartford is a combination of highly successful mills at Lowell, Lawrence and Saugus, Mass. and at Harrisville, R. L. and is one of the largest independent woolen and worsted concerns in the country.

Mr. Perkins offers the 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of this company at $100 per share, to net 7 per cent. on the investment.

THE AUDITORIUM.

Another corking bill will open today with Queen Mab and Oscar Weis, the midgets, heading it. These clever little entertainers have made such a hit the first three days that they will be held over for the remainder of the week. A trio of musical entertainers using mandolins, guitars and banjos, etc., will perhaps be second in line for the amount of entertainment afforded their hearers. A dainty singfor the amount of entertainment ar-forded their hearers. A dainty sing-ing comedienne is Irene Hunt, who will render several new and catchy songs. The Madcap trio of girl acro-bats, a very unusual act, will present their work in a first class, easy, but fast manner, and will surely please. In Africa, or Scenes Made Famous by Theodore Roosevelt, is the feature motion picture for today and shows the "Imp" pictures at their best

BREED THEATER.

"Auntie at Yale-Harvard Thames River Story.

Always the ploneer of motion pic-ture novelties of the highest class, the Breed theater is still in the front rank of refined entertainers, with the superb story of the Yale-Harvard race, entitled Auntie at the Races.

This is a fascinating story enacted wholly upon the Thames river, at New London, and at the post houses at Gales Ferry, and tells of the dastardly article of the dastardly are the control of th Gales Ferry, and tells of the dastardly strempt of a rival faction to draw the stroke oar of the Harvard crew into a plot, whereby he could be held prisener until after the great race, knowing full well that without this valuable member Yale could win. The stroke's sweetheart is in a large hotel in New London, and as her room happens to be next to the room where the scheme has been concocted, she overpens to be next to the room where the scheme has been concocted, she overhears it and succeeds in thwarting the villainous plans, and the hero arrives just in time to jump into the shell, and a splendid get away is made, and there is an exciting race all the way to the bridge, where Harvard wins by several lengths, and the return to the boat house is made, where the delightful romance ends. "Auntis" is a sport all through the picture, and is a very necessary member of the cast.

Mr. Loud will be heard in an entirely new programme of picture songs.

THE STRAW ITCH.

A New Disease Discovered by a Government Surgeon.

People who use straw mattresses run the risk of being attacked by the straw itch, a disease said to be new to straw itch, a disease said to be new to American physicians. It is a peculiar itching, eruptive disease, which has been proved to be due to the attack of a small straw and grain infesting mite. Public attention has been called to the subject by a publication in the last issue of the government public health reports by Joseph Goldberger, passed assistant surgeon in the public health service.

Surgeon Goldberger says it has been abown that the presence of the mite in the straw or grain is dependent upon the occurrence in the straw or grain of certain insect parasites upon which the mite preys. To the farmer this mite is ordinarily beneficial in that preying on the insect parasites of wheat the dmage to his crops by the latter is minimized.

The occurrence of a disease similar to the one under discussion has been similar.

The occurrence of a disease similar to the one under discussion has several times been recorded in the European medical press in the last fifty or sixty years, and its association with a mite neted. In the United States, however, the malady was not recognized until 1901.

Nothing tastes as good on a hot day as a glass of Williams' Root Beer.

RECORDS OF BIRTHS.

Not Properly Filed in New Haven County.

Charging that there is a neglect to give proper records of births and deaths in many towns about New Haven county, County Health Officer Hoadley is at present directing a crusade to bring about a rigid enforce-ment of the law. He is at present in-vestigating in Ansonia and neighbor-ing cities and will take up the work in New Haven some time next week, as it is thought that there is considerable disregard of the law there.

Mr. Hoadley says the failure to reports births was largely among the foreign population, and is due in most respects to ignorance of the laws. He foreign population, and is due in most respects to ignorance of the laws. He cites instances where births occurred and where no practicing physician was called it. Instead, a woman, who practiced midwifery, without the proper authority, would not file a birth return on account of making herself liable to prosecution. The parents of the infant were ignorant of the law. So that the report of the recent arrival was not made known by them, ropsequently there was no record of it. rival was not made known by them, consequently there was no record of it. But for the fact that death resulted in some of these cases, nothing would be known of this matter, and County Health Officer Hoadley believes the number of births that have not been recorded must be very large. Mr. Hoadley, in the hope that the matter can be straightened out to some extent, will ask the aid of the clergymen of the city. He proposes to secure a list of the children who have been baptized and after this is done comparisons will be made with the comparisons will be made with the vital statistics. It is his intention to have the reports from the churches go as far back as the beginning of 1909.

Moving Pictures. A Waterbury lady, Mrs. Ella Root Bioor, has printed a letter proposing that the churches take over the mov-ing picture shows on Sunday and in other ways try to make the best of the natural and inevitable disposition to recreation. Her own outline of the plan does not sound as attractive as it plan does not sound as attractive as it might in some respects, particularly in proposing open air concerts interrupted by "brief speeches." Most people would prefer their music without having to listen to speeches of any kind. In printing the article the Republican (which approves its main purpose) goes farther, although what it desires differs little from what is common practice except that it is proposed to make it legal instead of forbidding it by law and then ignoring posed to make it legal instead of for-bidding it by law and then ignoring the law. It adds: "It took twenty-five years to open the Metropolitan Museum of Art to the working people of New York, and there were good peo-ple who expected a visitation like that of Sadam and Coursesh when it was of Sodom and Gomorrah when it was done."—Hartford Times. LEGAL NOTICES.

DID YOU EVER HEAR AN ENGLISH SPARROW SING!

What? an English sparrow sing?
Insignificant brown thing.
So common and so bold, 'twould surely bring
Tears of laughter to the eyes
Of the superficial wise
To suggest that that small immigrant could sing.

'Twas the bleakest wintry day, Earth, sky, water, all were gray, Of the universe old Borcas seemed king, As he swept across the lake, But his empire was at stake When that little English sparrow dared to sing.

Not a friend on earth had I, No horizon to my sky. No faith that there could be another No faith that there could be another spring.

Cold the world as that gray wall

Of the Auditorium tail

Where I heard that little English

sparrow sing.

On the shelving of one stone
He was cuddling all alone;
O, the little feet knew bravely how
to cling!
As from our the tuneful throat
Came the sweetest springtime note.
And I truly heard an English sparrow
sing.

You may talk for all your days
In the thrush and bluebirds praise
And all your other harbingers of spring.
But I've never heard a song
Whose echoes I'd prolong
Like that I heard the English sparrow
sing.

O. my heart's a phonograph
That will register each laugh
And all happy sounds that form the joy bells ring.
So if cloudy days should come.
In my hours of darkest gloom
I'm sure I'll hear that English sparrow sing.

Bertha Johnston, in Chicago Unity.

TRISH LOVE CHAPT.

I think I've looked on eyes that shees.
With equal splendor.
And some, but they are dimmed and gone.
As wildly tender.
I never looked on eyes that shed.
Such home-light mingled with such beauty—
beauty—
That 'mid all lights and shadows said,
"I love and trust and will be trust to ye."

I've seen some lips almost as red,
A form as stately;
And some such beauty turned my head
Not very lately.
But not till now I've seen a girl
With form so proud lips so delicious,
With hair like night and teeth of pearl—
Who was not haughty and capricious

Oh, fairer than the dawn of day
Or Erne's islands!
Oh, purer than the hawthorn spray
In Bentry's highlands!
In sleep such visions crossed my view,
And when I woke the phantom faded;
But new I find the fancy true,
And fairer than the vision made it,
